GREATER OSHKOSH EDC APPOINTS NEW LEADERS

February 16, 2016 - The Greater Oshkosh Economic Development Corporation (Greater Oshkosh EDC) is pleased to announce the addition of Erik Lampe to its Executive Committee and two new members, Steve Hoopman and Stan Leedle, to its Board of Directors.

Erik Lampe (Term through 2017)

Mr. Lampe currently serves as a Vice President of Business Development for Oshkosh Corporation. Prior to joining Oshkosh Corporation, Erik was a management consultant with McKinsey & Company, where he focused on growth strategy and operations effectiveness for companies in the industrials and aerospace & defense sectors. Erik has an MBA from Harvard Business School and Bachelor's degrees in Mechanical Engineering and Management Science from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "I am honored to have the chance to expand my involvement in Greater Oshkosh EDC to the Executive Committee and continue to be excited about the impact that the organization can deliver. Greater Oshkosh EDC has an opportunity to help make a great community even greater in the years to come."

Steve Hoopman (Term through 2018)

Steve has been an active member in the community since the early 1970's. He served as CEO for five nonprofits organizations for 32+ years before leaving to operate his construction company. He has been active building assisted living homes for the past 18 years and has also entered the field of commercial real estate the past three years. Several of Steve's five children remained in Oshkosh and are active in the real estate market as well. "I look forward to helping enhance the economic development efforts currently under way in the Oshkosh area."

Stan Leedle (Term through 2018)

Stan has been involved in the financial services industry for over 35 years. In 1983 he moved to Oshkosh to work as a lender for M&I Bank. After leaving M&I, Stan spent one year in the employment of First Federal Savings Bank, in charge of all commercial and business lending activity. In 2006 Stan co-founded Choice Bank, where is employed as the Executive Vice President and Chief Credit Officer. Stan is married to Lynne, and they have two children, Katie and Geoff. "Greater Oshkosh EDC is dedicated to providing the best environment for businesses in the Oshkosh area and I am pleased to be a part of this initiative and to serve on their Board of Directors."

“We are excited to have Erik join our Executive Committee and would like to welcome our newest board members. Both bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise to Greater Oshkosh EDC. I know their contributions and counsel, along with the invaluable guidance of our existing board, will boldly provide leadership and innovation for our organization,” said Jason White, CEO of Greater Oshkosh EDC.
